Mes Amis . . . the mayor and commissioners seem quite determined not to fit the street at the post office . . . come on boys you know it is a confounded shame to have such a mess right in the heart of town . . . this is an important thoroughfare, just a little thought and a bit of work will turn it from a mud hole to a good roadway . . . as we are about to conclude our column, news has reached us that

Two men were taken to the Kings Daughters Hospital for examination following an accident Sunday at 3 a.m., at Watkins Restaurant when a Pontiac, driven by L. Luizza, New Orleans, sideswiped a Chrysler, driven by Shelby Tucker, former Bay St. Louis resident.

Sheriff B. D. Johnson said that Mr. Tucker was driving west and Mr. Luizza was driving east when the latter pulled out and side swiped the Tucker car damaging it to such an extent that it could not be used. Neither of the men were hurt. Mr. Johnson brought the men to the hospital here for examination, but they were not retained.

Billy Rae Bennett a member of the Bay Hi Band was chosen on the All-State Lions Club Band . . . our congratulations to you youngsters . . . you deserve much recognition for your untiring efforts and many hours of practice . . . it is to be hoped that the people of Bay St. Louis will be given an opportunity of hearing both the Bay Hi High School Band and the St. Stanislaus band again in concert before the end of the school term . . . how about a joint concert as were held in the years gone by . . .

County, City Appropriate Funds To Surface Beach; To Issue Bonds for Health Unit, Hospital

At a joint meeting of the Board of Supervisors of Hancock County and the Mayor and Commissioners of the City of Bay St. Louis held Wednesday morning, it was voted to surface the section of the Beach Boulevard, recently rebuilt, and which was destroyed in the 1947 hurricane. The action followed an agreement by the board as to the financing of the project. Under the agreement the county has appropriated $2500.00 and the City $2000.00 for this purpose. The work on this project is to start immediately.

In attendance at the meeting were many interested persons, particularly the membership of the Chamber of Commerce Committee, named to sponsor this project as one of the major items of the Chamber of Commerce program. The American Cancer Society has organized the plans for the annual drive for funds. Workers were named last week to solicit contributions throughout Bay St. Louis, Waveland, Pearlington and Logtown.

WORK INEXPENSIVE

Prior to starting this work, fabulous sums were suggested in order to complete the job, and the Board of Supervisors and Mayor and Commissioners are to be congratulated for the effective and inexpensive manner in which they handled the project, in all the total expenditure will not exceed $25,000.00.

HEALTH CENTER AND HOSPITAL

At the conclusion of the joint meeting, the Board of Supervisors continued in session and passed a resolution for the issuance of $50,000.00 of County bonds to supplement Federal and State funds for the building of a Health Center and a County Hospital. Under the Hill-Burton bill, it will only be necessary for the County to put up 13 1/2% of the total cost of these buildings. The cost of the Health Center will be approximately $60,000.00, and the hospital will near the sum of $300,000.00.

The bonds are to be issued pursuant to a recent act of the Legislature, empowering the Board of Supervisors of this County to be commanded for its civic mindedness and progressiveness in planning such badly needed improvements to our community.

PLEDGE SUPPORT

The mayor and commissioners have pledged their wholehearted support and cooperation to the Clement R. Bontemps Post 139 of the American Legion in their efforts towards providing the community with a sand beach and pier.

A FIGHT TO THE END

Do you want to read a story that is comparable to a situation existing in Hancock County, then read the story by Gordon Schendel in the issues of April 15-22 of Collier's Magazine entitled "Illinois Shakedown." The author depicts rather vividly the situation existing in the various counties of Illinois; and as the reader follows him throughout the pages, you can readily visualize the despicable conditions existing in many of these counties, where law enforcement officers are controlled by racketeers.

The author relates how business and professional men agreed on one cause, put concisely by the pastor of one of the churches, who asked that his name not be used for fear of reprisal, that: "For years gambling operators have skimmed off the cream of the people's earnings and shipped it out of town. Money just doesn't reach the local merchants. And the worst of this gambling," he added bitterly, "is the slot machine disease," and he continues: "Perhaps most sinister of all are my findings that the syndicate—bent on expanding its already bloated empire and opening up isolated areas which have thus far resisted the encroachments of gambling—is today carrying on a high-pressure campaign aimed at systematically buying off with fantastically huge bribes those officials who have remained honest."

Schendel relates how State's Attorneys in some of the counties claim they are powerless to enforce the gambling law and that the answer from a sheriff of one of the counties when told there were 572 slot machines operating in his county, shot back, "So what." He found one State's Attorney particularly who carried out his campaign pledges to rid his county of gambling and of the slot machines. Making an appointment to interview this man, the author was received into his study at his home, and there the attorney placed a gun on his desk, as he had been threatened on numerous occasions, and was taking no chances until he satisfied himself that the writer was not the member of some syndicate and intended to harm him.

At the end of the interview State's Attorney Alan D. Young, told the author, so he relates: "Well, all the law abiding citizens can do is keep on fighting. And, in just one county we have made a good size dent in the racketeer's take. In the year since I knocked out the slot machines here, bank deposits in Fulton County have increased $500,000.00."

He found Frank Ledbetter, youthful editor of the Mound City Enterprise, had editorially protested some of the flagrant deals between local officials and gambling interests; first "interested parties" called on him, threatening to ruin his business and run him out of town; then, last December, the building housing his little weekly newspaper mysteriously burned.

And as we read on the story is not much different than it is in Hancock County, Mississippi. The only point is that we have not reached the killing stage down here yet, but we have been on the borderline. Neither are our officers powerless to enforce the law. The laws are there, and to back them up in the enforcement, they have a recent decision of the Supreme Court of Mississippi, which emanated from this county, declaring that slot machines are gambling devices. But apparently our law enforcement officers are no different than those in some of the Counties of Illinois. They just can't resist the temptation and the lure of easy money, and the hope of the life of Riley after they leave office.

For years the racketeers have skimmed off the cream of the earnings of the poor people of Hancock County, who could least afford to lose, and have sunk their ill-gotten gains in the bank boxes, but their reign is fast coming to an end, and then the merchants will soon realize that money will reach their bins. The racketeers and the law enforcement officers may as well realize it is a fight to the end. And the fear of reprisal does not deter the thoughts nor the actions of a courageous people who have the interest and welfare of their county at heart. Already a good size dent has been made in their take with the closing of their operations in Bay St. Louis. The other slice is due any day now. Action will be had in the thirty injunction suits pending in the Chancery Court, and this will reach nearly every operation in the County.

Will our law enforcement officers continue to disregard the will of the majority of the people of the County and continue to close their eyes to the rackets, and give the stock answer, "So what," forcing individuals to seek relief in a court of equity.

Truman Hits Back

PRESIDENT TRUMAN really poured it on mud-slinging Sen. Joe McCarthy in a long-distance phone conference from his vocation headquarters at Key West with congressional leaders in Washington.

"What's wrong with that fellow, anyway?" exploded Truman.

"Doesn't he know that he is doing irreparable harm to his government by all this loose talk?"

The President commented that McCarthy's unsupported charges that the state department is "loaded with pro-Communists" already had seriously undermined the morale, and perhaps the efficiency, of this vital branch of the government.

"Think of the great numbers of loyal personnel in the department who have given their whole lives to their government," he said, "and think what McCarthy has done to the spirit of these people. It wouldn't surprise me if many of them were thinking of resigning. They probably figure that they'll be next on McCarthy's list and they don't want to have their families dragged through such an ordeal."

The effects of McCarthy's character assassination and reckless rantings were even more damaging on U.S. prestige abroad, Truman emphasized, particularly in western Europe, where we must keep our heads high in the cold war with Russia.

McCarthy has played right into the hands of Russian propagandists who are doing everything to sell their satellites and other western European countries the idea that the United States is divided against itself, the president declared.

He added that McCarthy had made the job of our foreign diplomats "doubly difficult" because they are afraid to be seen talking to anyone who might be accused of pro-Communist leanings in France, Italy and other countries, even in the course of their duties.

As a result, the President said, our embassies and legations in some countries had become "virtually isolated" and our foreign service personnel in these places seriously demoralized.

Inside Facts

Things most people don't know about alleged "Commies" in government: Chairman of the state department's loyalty review board charged with weeding out Communists is a Republican—Gen. Conrad Snow of New Hampshire. He was appointed on the recommendation of GOP Sen. Styles Bridges, a backstage brain-truster for Senator McCarthy's attacks. Chairman of the top loyalty review board is also a republican, Seth Richardson, who served under Hoover. Most of the lawyers under him are also Republican.

Neither Truman nor anyone else can overrule them . . . only the courts . . . actually, Acheson has fired more state department employees than any other secretary of state . . . McCarthy's attacks have been almost as vitriolic as Moscow's. Here is his latest diatribe against Acheson, "This Fascist-like diplomat . . . a truly incorrigible liar . . . swindler . . . a hired lackey of the instigators of war who spent his scanty brains to belie truth, freedom and peace . . . Acheson's true master are the banks and concerns who dream of looting the globe."

Acheson's family is worried over his terrible strain.

He is wondering whether he has not become a liability, that for the good of U.S. foreign policy he should resign . . . Writes another secretary of state, Henry L. Stimson, in the Hoover cabinet, about Senator McCarthy: "The man who seeks to gain political advantage from personal attack on a secretary of state is a man who seeks political advantage from damage to his country."

Flying Saucers

Harassed over flying saucers, the air force now refers querels to the first chapter of the prophet Ezekiel who saw a living wheel in the heavens. Airmen are not arguing with Ezekiel and cast no doubt upon what he saw. But they do cast doubt on modern prophets. They say they have tracked down every flying-saucer report, and there ain't no such animal.

The Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, slightly grieved at present identical sickness, remind him: "Mr. President, modern streetcarliners, maimed by competent union crews, run daily between Washington and Florida. And no little brown pills are required."

Two great Bible fans are fighting for the Republican senatorial nomination in New Hampshire. Sen. Charles Tobey and challenger Wes Powell are doing their best to outvote each other . . . Bradley Nash has written a book on Herbert Hoover's reforms.

Cardinal S. Stritch Visits Seminary

JULY 1907
Several days ago a reader of this column brought in some interesting articles that appeared in The Picayune many years ago in regard to Gainesville and Pearlington, our neighbors. We are taking pleasure in reproducing these items, the first about Gainesville to appear this week, for the benefit of those who might be interested in the early history of our nearby friends.

Lucked away in the fastnesses of the pine forests of Mississippi, on the banks of Pearl River, is the site of the original capital of Hancock County. But little remains now to tell of the glory of past years. The brick foundations of the old courthouse are scarcely visible under the magnolia trees under which some of the most brilliant men of the south have been heard in addresses that were eloquent and stirring. A little way on the bank of the river is the old Post-Office homestead, the girlhood home of "Pearl Rivers," a spot that was dear to her all her life. What wonder that her pen flowed on with such charming grace, giving hope and cheer to all who read. Her life was like the river, pure and sweet, and many another's burden was lightened by her bearing.

There is little resemblance in the present house to the home of long ago. The tall coquial columns are almost bare of paint and there is only a remnant of the flowers that at one time bloomed so profusely there.

Before there were any railroads in this section Gainesville was a great shipping point. A little way back is a real cotton country, and all the cotton was brought here and shipped by steamer and schooner to New Orleans. There were cargoes of charcoal and of lumber and shingles, and in return there was brought back the dry goods and groceries used almost over the entire country. It was the social center of the county and was frequented by many New Orleans people. War laid its blighting hand on the county and town, and before it had recovered the railroads came with their hurry and push to the lower and upper portions of the county and left the town almost a deserted village.

But brighter days are in prospect for Gainesville, for it, too, is to have a railroad; and with water and rail shipping facilities and the rich farming country round about and the heavy pine forests near at hand, this gives promise of being one of the most thriving towns in the state. Here is a fine site for hardwood factories, such as the manufacture of wagon timber, ax handles, oars, broom handles, butter dishes, staves, headings and box shocks. The saw mill of the Pelican Box factory of New Orleans, Arthur Homan, proprietor, is here, and there is room for more.

The one store here is kept by J. D. Carver who keeps a well-filled stock of general merchandise. The postmaster is S. C. Farley.

The water of Gainesville is clear as spring water and the wells evidently reach the vein that comes down from the higher lands of the state above. It is a pure water and is exceptionally free from disagreeable ingredients.

Property at this time can be had at a very reasonable figure, but little later it will evidently be a better price. The site is worth considering by investors who wish to establish factories for the utilizing the raw material of the country, such as wood and cotton products.

From Gainesville to Pearlington the road passes through one of the largest turpentine orchards in the state and by some well-tended farms. Among the owners of the farms are Ernie Koch, who lives near Logtown, and a Mr. Daniels, who a few years ago came here from the northern part of Minnesota. Both farms are carefully tilled, and the growing crops, the fences, the outbuildings, the thrifit that makes even a desert blossom as a rose, and here in orchards, all give evidence of these fertile hill sides plentious harvests are produced.

—Mrs. Octave Mendes Delvalle died at the family home in Bredaux, France, June 14, 1907. She was survived by two sons; a sister, Miss Alice Mendes of Bay St. Louis; and three brothers, Richard Mendes of Bay St. Louis and Arthur and Anatole Mendes of New Orleans.

—Mr. George R. Rea returned from a day's stay in New Orleans accompanied by Mrs. Rea and their baby daughter, little Ethel Sexton Rea.

—Mr. and Mrs. Simon Carrio of Waveland issued invitations to the marriage of their daughter, Pearl Marguerite, to Hon. Frank Frank S. Favre, member of the City Council of Bay St. Louis. The event took place at the church of Our Lady of the Gulf Wednesday, July 17, 1907.

—Mr. Ollie Dedeaux, son of Mr. Arnaud Dedeaux, merchant of Delisle, received his diploma together with other dignitaries of the Cardinal, His Eminence Samuel Cardinal Stritch, Archbishop of Chicago, who gave the keynote address at the N. C. E. A. convention in New Orleans last Tuesday and attended the funeral of the late Bishop Lee F. Fahey, visited St. Augustine's Seminary last week.

ACCOMPANY CARDINAL

Accompanying the Cardinal were his Excellencies, the Most Rev. Joseph Francis Rummel, S. T. D., LL. D., archbishop of New Orleans; the Most Rev. William O'Brien, auxiliary bishop of Chicago; the Most Rev. Richard O. Gerow, Bishop of Natchez; together with the Monsignori, the Very Rev. Charles Plauché, chancellor of New Orleans diocese; the Very Rev. Paul Melanson, pastor of St. Catherine of Siena Church, New Orleans; and the Very Rev. James C. Hardman, S. T. B., of Chicago, Ill.

GREETED BY PROVINCIAL

The Very Rev. William Bauer, S. V. D., provincial of the Southern Province, and the Very Rev. Lawrence Walsh, S. V. D., Rector of the Seminary, greeted His Eminence. The Cardinal was escorted to the Chapel and introduced by the Very Rev. Provincial.

REMEMBERS FOUNDATION

The Cardinal, in his address to the faculty and student body, said "I have long desired to see this seminary. I remember its foundation over twenty-five years ago. The courage of the Divine Word fathers made them do the right thing at the right time, for the Mission field today is ripe and we are gathering the fruits." The Cardinal stressed the thought that "we must not only cultivate the 'extraordinary' means, but the 'ordinary' means; namely the education of priests and religious to convert the Negro race."

MUST PROVIDE PRIESTS

"We must look up to this seminary for providing priests, for it was this seminary that started and organized this project; so that today we not only have members of the Society of the Divine Word, but it stimulated vocations among the colored who are today received in many of the seminaries of the country," the Cardinal added.

Turning toward the student body, he said, "you are fortunate to be here under the guidance of the Fathers of the Divine Word. You are in the religious vanguard. Be zealous in your work and studies so that you may bring the gospel to your own people."

PRESENCE ATTESTS INTEREST

"I will always be interested in this seminary as are all the other Bishops," the Cardinal concluded. "We are watching your progress. My presence today attests my interest in the seminary."

SEE EFFECTS OF WORK

This is the first time Cardinal Stritch has had an opportunity to visit St. Augustine's. He is the second Cardinal who has paid a visit to the seminary; the first was His Eminence Thomas Cardinal Tien, S.V.D., China's first Cardinal and a member of the Society of the Divine Word. Cardinal Stritch, the general chairman of the American Board of Catholic Missions, took this opportunity to see some of the effects of his work.

OTHER VISITORS

Other members of the clergy who attended the National Catholic Educational Association Convention in New Orleans that visited St. Augustine's were Rev. William Fitzgibbon, S.V.D., and Rev. Roesslein, S.V.D., both from Peking University, China, who are presently studying at Chicago University and Catholic University of Washington, D.C., respectively; Rev. Joseph A. Wagner, Director for the Propagation of the Faith in Joliet, Ill.; Rev. Arthur F. Terleke, pastor of St. Gregory's church, Chicago, Ill.; Rev. Michael J. Malone, C.S.V. of Chicago, Ill.; and Rev. Leo Hotez, S.V.D., of Chicago, Ill.

Easier Washdays Are In Store

By MISS MADGE ALLRED

Washday labor soon may be lighter for the housewife. A simple inexpensive white powder which can be added to the laundry rinse water to make cotton fabrics harder to soil and easier to clean has been found.

This new rinsing treatment known as CMC—carboxymethyl cellulose—is the result of research at the Institute of Textile Technology, Charlottesville, Va., sponsored by the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

A small amount of the white powder is dissolved in the final rinse water after laundering cottons. It gives the fibers a smooth coating. Thus, they are more resistant to soil, wash easier and with less soap than is usually needed.

About 3 level tablespoons of CMC to each gallon of rinse water improves the soil resistance of the goods without changing the feel or appearance of the fabric. About four times this amount makes the fabric slightly stiffer when dry.

CMC already has a variety of industrial uses and is really available in wholesale lots, but has not yet come on the market in small packages convenient for home use.

The Institute reports that small amounts of CMC has been incorporated in some synthetic detergents but when used this way it is less effective than when added to the rinse water.

In experiments by the Institute samples of cotton goods rinsed in CMC solution, then dried and uniformly soiled with carbon black washed easily to their original whiteness. But untreated samples, soiled the same way, could not be washed cleaner than a dull, dirty grey.

Cotton fabric rinsed in a one percent solution of CMC proved three or four times more resistant to soiling than untreated fabrics. Similar though less striking results were obtained with other compounds. But the ordinary starch and other materials used on cotton fabrics are of little help in removing soil.

Surgey Progress

An Aid in Care

Thanks to improved anesthesia to keep the patient safe and quiet, to antibiotics which greatly reduce the danger of post-operative infections, to recently acquired knowledge about the body's chemistry and fluid balances, and the daring and skill of American surgeons, many once-hopeless cancer cases are being saved today.

In some hospitals, the entire pelvic viscera can be removed to root out all of the seeds of a wide-spread cancer. Patients are relieved of their pain and sent back to their normal life for comfortable and useful months and years.

Progress has been made, too, in saving vital organs. High rates of cure are being established in some institutions with a minimum of damage to normal physical functions. A growing number of ingenious prosthetic devices have reduced fear of some mutilating operations.

In many kinds of cancer, surgeons and radiotherapists team up to do together what neither alone can do for a patient. They have found that pre-operative and post-operative radiation may reduce mortality in several kinds of cancer; after the surgeon has excised all the cancer that can be reached with a scalpel, the radiotherapist sometimes can rub out remaining malignant cells with x-rays. Surgical progress, plus great educational emphasis on early diagnosis, is saving more lives each year. Support the 1950 Cancer Crusade of the American Cancer Society. Strike Back. Give to Cancer.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Stuart Saucier and baby, Velma, accompanied by Miss Clemmie Cazeau, left for the mountains in Tennessee where they were to spend a month.

Brainy 'Possum Hound Outwits Sequatchie County Jewel Thief

By BILLY ROSE

A few days ago I got the following letter from a Mr. Jake Withers of Sequatchie county, Tennessee:

Dear Mister Billy Rose,

In some recent issues of the Nashville Tennessean I noticed the columns you wrote about educated animals—dogs that could add and subtract, and horses that could figure out cube roots—and so I figured you might be interested in hearing about the smartest four-legged critter in the history of Sequatchie county.

To begin at the beginning, there's a truck farmer down here by the name of Lem Albright who owns a possum hound which is as black as the inside of a tar barrel. Lem calls him "Einstein" and, to hear Lem tell it, the dog has more brains than a passel of professors —and after what happened the other night at our smoked-ham supper and square dance, most everyone in Sequatchie is inclined to agree.

Here's what happened:

A COUPLE of weeks ago, Mrs. Will Purdy's mother, who lived across the line in Grundy county, passed away, and when the family gathered for the divvying up, Will's wife got a gold brooch set with eight diamonds, three of them genuine. Needless to say, she wore the brooch to the smoked-ham supper and square dance, and needless to recount, it got more attention than team-of-four with their tails trimmed.

Everything went smooth as molasses at the social until right in the middle of a "swinging party" when Mrs. Purdy let out a scream and fainted dead away.

And when they brought her around, she began bawling for someone to lock the doors because her brooch had been stolen right off her chest.

Fortunately, our sheriff was on hand, and after he hanged the lid on the piano to get people quiet he said, "Don't nobody leave this room. I hate to say it, but there's a low-down thin-lin' crook in our midst, and I'm a-goin' to search every man-jack until I find Mrs. Purdy's brooch."

"Sheriff," said Lem Albright, "I don't think that'll hardly be necessary. My round Einstein, as you know, is the best-behaved animal in Sequatchie county, but the next day, when Lem was interviewed by the editor of our paper, he didn't brag much about his hound.

"To tell the truth," he said, "the sheriff and me, we wasn't too sure Einstein could spot the criminal, so we helped out a little. I rubbed a little soot from the stove on the hound's underside, and every time anyone came out of the room the sheriff looked at his hands. The first person with clean hands figured to be our man, because the thief was a cinch to make believe he was scratchin' Einstein without really touchin' his belly a-tall."

Yours truly,

Jake Withers.

One thing he can't abide is to have a thief scratch his belly. So, sure as shootin', the minute he feels the fingernails of the fella we're after, he'll start in to yowl, and we'll have the thief in no time a-tall."

SOME OF US began to laugh, but the sheriff took Lem aside, talked to him a minute, and then banged the piano lid again.

"I don't rightly know whether Lem's notion is going to work," he said, "but there ain't no harm in givin' it a try. I'm goin' to act like Einstein in the next room, and then I want all of you to get in single file and come in one at a time and scratch the hound's belly."

Everybody, including the jidders, did as told, and sure enough, 20 minutes later the sheriff pointed at a man from the outside and said, "It worked, like Jake said—there's the criminal."

When the man was grabbed and searched, the brooch was found in his pocket, and so, on top of a smoked-ham supper and square dance, there was a running-out-of-town party to top off the evening. And all in all, it was easily the most successful social in a long while.

Next day, when Lem was interviewed by the editor of our paper, he didn't brag much about his hound.

"To tell the truth," he said, "the sheriff and me, we wasn't too sure Einstein could spot the criminal, so we helped out a little. I rubbed a little soot from the stove on the hound's underside, and every time anyone came out of the room the sheriff looked at his hands. The first person with clean hands figured to be our man, because the thief was a cinch to make believe he was scratchin' Einstein without really touchin' his belly a-tall."

Yours truly,

Jake Withers.

OLD AGE PENSIONS

While Mississippi ranks low among other states in the average paid to its needy aged, the State is fourth in the number of people aided per 1,000 population over 5. Louisiana leads with 810 out of every 1,000 on its pension rolls. In Mississippi 480 out of every 1,000 above 65 are now receiving old age assistance. In contrast there are only 63 per 1,000 on the rolls in Delaware, and the national average is 231.

In the year following September, 1947, Mississippi increased its old age pension rolls from 38,000 to over 52,000. This increase was made possible by the action of Congress, in changing the matching formula for the old age assistance program. Originally the state had to match dollar for dollar the Federal Government's contribution. In 1947 a more liberal formula was finally adopted. Under it the Federal share in the program became 34 of the first $20 of the state's average monthly payment, plus 1/2 of the balance up to an individual maximum of $50. Some states used this new formula to increase the amount of the pension, but the State of Mississippi chose to spread the funds available to cover as many people as possible.

HOUSING

Veterans and colleges are among the principal beneficiaries under the new housing bill, which minus the Administration's proposal for cooperative housing for middle-income families, has passed both Houses of Congress. As finally agreed to, it included 5,250,000,000 for an extension of the Federal National Association program for the purchase of home mortgages; $150,000,000 for direct 4% loans to veterans who cannot borrow from private sources; mortgage insurance up to $5,000,000 for each project under the present FHA program for housing cooperatives; $300,000,000 in 2.5% loans to schools and colleges for student and housing; $500,000,000 for mortgage insurance on large scale rental projects where the applications were filed prior to March 1, 1950 and $2,250,000,000 in additional mortgage insurance authority under the FHA's Title II program for private homes.

Attempt To Provide Workable Rural Telephone Bill Defeated In Legislature

LT. BECKER RETURNS FROM DUTY IN JAPAN

REA leaders in Mississippi, in a statement to the more than 200,000 farm families that seek telephone service, this week expressed the hope that a workable rural telephone bill would be written by the State Legislature in 1952.

Pointing out that powerful monopoly interests had successfully fought all attempts to provide a workable rural telephone bill during the recent state legislative session, these REA spokesmen advised their rural electric members that, "It is our hope that the next session of the legislature will create an adequate rural phone bill and thus pave the way for the expansion of this vitally needed public service."

The committee, headed by H. L. Pickering of Taylorsville; L. C. Spencer, Jr. of Greenwood; and J. T. Dudley of Lucedale, declared that powerful monopoly lobbyists of the Southern Bell Company prevented enactment of a workable rural telephone bill.

CRIPPLING AMENDMENTS

REA spokesmen converged in Jackson during the recent session in behalf of the rural people. They lauded the action of the House in approving a satisfactory rural telephone enabling act which was proposed by farm leaders in Mississippi. Senate action, however, followed with several crippling amendments.

SUPPORT OPPONENTS

A joint committee was named to iron out differences between the two bills, but the committee report came up for votes with Bell-sponsored amendments. Governor Fielding L. Wright also threw his support in behalf of the Southern Bell interests.

REA leaders urged the defeat of the joint committee report and were successful in the House, 80 to 26, and in the Senate, 24 to 22.

Those representatives and senators who defeated the unworkable conference report are to be commended and praised for their stand," the committee said.

LEADERS IN FIGHT

Among those leading the rural people's fight for a workable rural telephone bill were Senator Cornelius Ladner, whose quick-thinking and good-timing led to the surprise Senate vote; Sena-

Vandenberg Missed

FOR MORE THAN a month there has been a vacant desk in the senate chamber. It is the third seat from the center aisle in the second row on the Republican side. And the absence of its regular occupant, Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan, due to his extended illness, has thrown the country's bi-partisan foreign policy into a tailspin.

The absence of Senator Vandenberg during this critical time has permitted the isolationists on the Republican side of the aisle and, too, some on the Democratic side, to run wild in partisan attempts to break down the united front in the senate of the United States on foreign policy.

There is little doubt in one's mind here that Senator Vandenberg was at once the spark plug and the balance wheel of our foreign policy and the various programs enacted to implement it; there is little doubt but that the all-out attack on Sen. Joseph McCarthy of Wisconsin against Secretary of State Dean Acheson and the entire state department, would have ever come to pass had Senator Vandenberg been in his senatorial seat.

For it is this attack, these wild irresponsible charges of "Communist infiltration" by the centrist Robespierre from Wisconsin that has done more to break down faith and respect in the nation's foreign policy and foreign commitments than if there were a dozen Communists in the state department.

Often Saved Day

More than once in the past, Senator Vandenberg has stepped into the breach and halted politics at the water's edge when some members of his party kicked over the traces and placed partisanship above the country's interests.

What many can not understand here is why the senate has let this probe of communism in the state department get out of hand and develop into a full-scale Hollywood show dashed by the smear and "guilt by association" technique which is making of our state department a laughing stock for the rest of the world.

How much better it would have been, observers here point out, to have used FBI methods, namely to quickly and efficiently and quietly gather the evidence and if it constituted grounds sufficient to file it or to indict, to have placed it in the hands of the department of justice without the fanfare of movies, television, klieg lights and character assassination of many innocent and loyal Americans.

Russia Had Friends

Certainly anyone knows that during the war when Russia was our friendly ally, there were friends of Russia in the state department and in every other department of government. The Alger Hiss case is proof of that fact. We also know that when the American and Russian armies met on German soil after beating down the German armies, the American GI's and the Russian GI's threw arms about one another in wild demonstrations of good fellowship and friendship in the full flush of victory.

But since then, times have changed and no doubt the sympathies of the people, friendly to Russia then, are just as unfriendly to Russia today.

But to lump all these people who expressed friendship for Russia and admiration for the stand of the Russian armies against German aggression back there during the war, as disloyal and pro-Communist is a little bit ridiculous and an insult to the intelligence of the American people.

McCarthy Rapped

If Senator McCarthy declares there is a "Hiss spy ring" in the state department, it was there when Gen. George Marshall was secretary of state. But General Marshall's reputation with the American people was and is such that would have been politically dangerous for Senator McCarthy to attack him through the process he is now using of smear and innuendo against Secretary Acheson. The conservative Washington Star has criticized McCarthy in similar vein.

If Senator McCarthy believes that Mr. Acheson should be fired, he has a right to say so. But if Senator McCarthy wants to be thought of as a responsible citizen and officer of this government, then he must emphatically does not have a right to snipe at Mr. Acheson from behind a cover of recklessness and unsupported charges against the state department.

For when he resorts to that technique he is not making a case against Mr. Acheson. Instead he is blackening the reputation of this government.

MRS. STANLEY FILE GIVES BOOK REVIEW AT W. M. S. MEET

Mrs. Stanley File reviewed the book "So This Is Africa" by Miss Susan Anderson a well known African Missionary. Mrs. File gave insight into the life of the people of that country, their deep superstitions and faith in their queen beliefs.

GODS TO AFRICA

The author offered herself as a Missionary to Africa in 1913 but was held in the United States with the advent of World War I. While waiting, she studied the Yoruba language to prepare herself for the years of service that lay ahead. In 1920 Miss Anderson secured passage to Africa.

Her first home was at the girls school at Spaigne, Abeokuta; it was surrounded on all sides by native houses. The thick walls of the more than fifty year old house were of mud cement inside and out; the structure was covered with corrugated iron roofing.

As Miss Anderson expressed it, "with the help of God all of these buildings have been completed and other buildings have been added."

WORSHIP 401 GODS

The people of Yoruba believe in a supreme being whom they call Olorum but think of him as too exalted to concern himself with man and his affairs. So they worship smaller gods—401 of them. This is not a religion of love but of fear, superstition, cruelty, and death.

ALL EVIL SPIRITS

There are many spirits in their beliefs but not one good spirit. These spirits dwell in tall trees, large rocks or great rivers and theirs is the work of doing evil, to the children of men. Small houses are built and food is produced in the hope that if these spirits, or one special spirit, is content, it may not trouble the people.

Presiding at the punch bowl was the groom's sister, Mrs. Brewster Mollere; and the bride's aunt, Mrs. Alvin Weinberg, cut the cake.

For traveling the bride wore a beige colored suit with brown hat and accessories. After a two weeks wedding trip, the couple will be at their home on City Park avenue in New Orleans.

Mrs. Wolfe is a graduate of Bay High and has been holding a clerical position at W. A. McDonald and Sons. Mr. Wolfe, a graduate of Bay High, served two years overseas with the Navy during World War II. He now holds a position with the United States Post Office in New Orleans.

Hi-Way Drive In Theatre Nears Completion

The Drive in Theatre a new fast-growing phase of the motion picture industry, has been erected on Highway 90 opposite Scafidi's Service Station No. 2 by Mr. Norman Benigno, and will probably open for business May 1.

The Drive in Theatre is not only a story of Africa, but a story of the work of Christian men and women who are sowing seed with the hope of a bountiful harvest for the Master.

Mrs. File gave the review as the program for the regular circle meeting of the Womans Missionary Society of the First Baptist Church with Mrs. Siren as hostess to the group in her home Tuesday afternoon.

At the close of the program plans were completed for the Fellowship Day on May 5 at 3 p. m. when the women of the Methodist, Episcopal and Baptist churches will meet in the Baptist church for a Fellowship service.

Mrs. Siren served a party plate to the following members of the society: Mesdames W. W. Webley, Mrs. Parker and Miss May H. Edwards.

—Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Parker of Laurel are making Bay St. Louis their home; they are located on Felicity street. Mr. Parker represents Standard Cof-cock County,

The tower where the screen is placed measures 62 x 62 feet, which Mr. Benigno says is the largest screen in Mississippi; it will provide clear vision.

The investment of the Hi-Way Drive-In Theatre will not fall short of $90,000, and may even exceed that amount. This investment shows that Mr. Benigno has confidence in the future of Hancock County,

The Drive-In can handle 600 cars. The crying baby or even the pet dog might be brought along to this show; no one except the occupants of the car, will be disturbed. Theaters of this type have created a new theatre-minded public; people who have never attended theaters have quickly formed a great desire for patronizing this type of show where they can bring the whole family in an automobile without worry and see a moving picture from their car.

Individual speakers will be placed in each car.

Honor Dr. H. B. Cowart At Home Town Of Poplarville On May 6

Poplarville, Miss., April 17—A country doctor with almost a half century of service to the people of South Mississippi will be honored here on Saturday, May 6, with an all-day celebration when thousands of people are expected to gather to pay tribute to the man and the services he has rendered.

DR. COWART DAY

The day has been designated as "Dr. Cowart Day" in honor of Dr. H. B. Cowart, who still rides the highways and by-ways of Pearl River, Stone and Hancock counties, administering to the sick. Despite his 65 years, Dr. Cowart goes at all hours of the day and night, regardless of weather.

Features of the all-day celebration will be a barbecue to feed the visiting people, speakers and a parade which will include many of the more than 4,000 babies Dr. Cowart has delivered during his 41 years of medical practice.

Toxey Hall, Columbia attorney and a life-long friend of Dr. Cowart, will be master of ceremonies. Principal speakers will include State Highway Commissioner John D. Smith, Mendenhall, another of Dr. Cowart's friends of long ago, and Ed Patterson, Monticello.

at Monticello, graduated with a medical degree from the Memphis (Tenn.) Hospital Medical Center and did graduate work at the Chicago College of Medicine. He started the active practice of medicine at the age of 21 at Goss, a community in Marion County. He later moved to New Hebron to practice, and later to Orvisburg when that town was a booming sawmill center in Pearl River County. Dr. Cowart moved to Poplarville 22 years ago and has occupied the same suite of offices in the Masonic Temple since that time.

Dr. Cowart's wife is the former Miss Bertha Johnston of Monticello.

HORSE AND BUGGY DOCTOR

Starting practice back in the horse and buggy days Dr. Cowart traveled over most of South Mississippi by that method before buying the first automobile owned in this section of the state, an old sprocket driven Brush. This first automobile had to be pushed through sand beds and over hills. Dr. Cowart recalls with a grin the many times South Mississippians cursed his car when their horses and mules ran away from the new noisemaker.

Dr. Cowart is a member of the Baptist church, a Mason and has served as a colonel on the staff of four Mississippi governors: Hugh L. White, Mike S. Conner, Thomas L. Bailey, and Fielding L. Wright.

Young People Assemble For Candlelight Service

Approximately 150 young people from Ocean Springs, Biloxi, Mississippi City, Gulfport, and Pass Christian, with the Bay St. Louis group as hosts, assembled in Bay St. Louis on Sunday, April 16 for a supper on the Whittfield Beach and candlelight service in the church at 6:30 p.m.

The theme of the service, The calling of twelve Apostles by Jesus, depicted the history of the Episcopal Church. Henry J. Chapman read the Scripture and as each apostle's name was read the person representing that apostle lighted his candle from the large candle on the Altar and took his place. The service was interspersed with the singing of hymns. A huge bonfire on the beach provided light for the supper following the church service a scavenger hunt was enjoyed.

Undergoes Operation

Mrs. R. L. Mitchell underwent a major operation at Touro Infirmary on Saturday, April 15. She is doing nicely according to reports.

The Japanese Priest Said: "DOMINUS VOBISCUM"

It was early Sunday morning in Tokyo. A cosmopolitan congregation had assembled in the Catholic church for the first Mass of the day. Along with the Japanese present, there were English, French and Portuguese sailors, the family of a Belgian diplomat, Filipino business men and a sprinkling of U. S. Military Police.

The Japanese priest was compelled to start the service without an assistant to answer the prayers. He had hardly begun the Mass, when a burly GI rose from his seat, walked to the altar and took the place of the absent server.

"At first," he said afterwards, "I felt a little strange serving a Jap priest in a Jap church. But after he turned around and said in Latin: 'Dominus vobiscum'... I felt just the way I did when I served Father O'Malley in our church back home."

"Dominus vobiscum!"... "The Lord be with you!"

How familiar and homelike those Latin words sounded... to the English, the French, the Portuguese, Belgians and Filipinos... for they had heard them Sunday after Sunday in their own church at home.

Despite their language differences, each could follow the prayers of the Mass... and the actions of the priest. For each had a double-column prayer book—one column in Latin, one in his native language.

Many services of divine worship in the Catholic Church are conducted in the native language of the people. But the Mass... the official and worldwide act of Catholic worship... is generally conducted in Latin because this dead language never changes and is most appropriate to express the fundamentally unchanging worship instituted by Christ at the Last Supper.

Perhaps you have heard Catholics speak of the Mass... or have seen them thronging to Mass on Sunday and other days. If you would like to know more about the Mass... and why the Mass attracts millions of Catholics to church regularly... we will be happy to send you a free pamphlet explaining the Mass and reasons behind it in a clear-cut manner. Write today... ask for Pamphlet No. 6-N.

Placed On Planting Pines?

By J. Roland Weston
A short time ago, I noticed a news item in the Times-Picayune which stated that Pearl River County, if I remember correctly, had planted over one million young pine trees this year. This is all well and fine and I wish to state at the beginning of this article, that I am not against reforestation by planting. Tremendous publicity has been given in the last few years of reforestation by planting, and in this article I merely wish to use Pearl River County as an example of all the rest of the Counties in Mississippi or the entire South for that matter.

EXPLANATION

These one million pine trees, if planted on the basis of approximately 700 per acre, would plant approximately 1400 acres of land. The total cost of planting would probably run somewhere around six or seven dollars per acre, that is for the cost of trees, use of the tractor and planter, labor, etc. This would total approximately $3,400.00.

Now the questions that arise in my mind are, first: how many thousands of young trees were destroyed by fires in Pearl River County, or for that matter in the various other counties, and the state in which young trees have been planted. The cost of planting these trees in Pearl River County certainly would have equipped and maintained at least two additional or more likely three fire fighting units which, of course, would have saved a great many trees that came up from the seed dropped by the pines that were burned.

Another thought is that until our fire protection is a great deal more efficient and better than it is now, it is a questionable practice whether we should plant trees if we can not reasonably be assured they will not be destroyed by fire, one, two or three years hence.

WHICH SHOULD IT BE?

Of course, I know, the great argument for planting trees is
